

24th Annual Resident Poster Day

October 12, 2021

Caught Under the Hook – A Case of Median Arcuate Ligament Syndrome

; Le Yu Naing, MD; Jason P. Gutman, MD

MAL syndrome is a rare diagnosis and often a diagnosis of exclusion. Typically, MAL syndrome presents as a triad of abdominal pain, vomiting, and weight loss, known as Dunbar triad. However gastric ischemia is an uncommon presentation. Characteristically in celiac stenosis, there is a compensatory